

A 'Novel' City Break... ... at The Fitzwilliam Hotel Dublin

To celebrate Dublin's award of the UNESCO literary site, The Fitzwilliam Hotel Dublin have created a unique city break that will see you 'book' a date with Dublin!

Literary buffs can stay in the heart of Leopold Bloom's playground, or have a pint in what was Brendan Behan's local, and soak up the erudite atmosphere at Trinity College Dublin where Oscar Wilde started his academic career. The Fitzwilliam Hotel Dublin is located on the top of Grafton Street on leafy St. Stephen's Green, and is the city's premier boutique hotel.

The 'Novel' City Break at The Fitzwilliam Hotel Dublin invites you to enjoy an overnight in the heart of Dublin for two, with a welcome amenity upon your arrival. As well as a hearty breakfast on the morning of your stay, this fantastic get away also includes entry for the Literary Pub Crawl, an award-winning show that crawls from pub to pub with professional actors performing from the works of Dublin's most famous writers, as well as a €25 voucher to spend in Dubray Books on Grafton Street.

While in Dublin check out fantastic literary landmarks on The Fitzwilliam Hotel's doorstep; Ireland's most famous book - The Book of Kells dating from 800 AD, and on show at Trinity College Dublin, Chester Beatty Library, James Joyce Tower, The Dublin Writers Museum, and many more.

This fantastic package is available at €110.00 per person sharing, and this rate also includes complimentary wired and wireless internet access, car park all taxes and service charges. Subject to availability
